

SHIELD

1884
TO 1984

How lovely is thy dwelling place,
O Lord of hosts!
My soul longs, yea, faints
for the courts of the Lord;
my heart and flesh sing for joy
to the living God.

Blessed are the men whose strength
is in thee,
in whose heart are the highways
to Zion . . .

They go from strength to strength;
the God of gods will be seen in Zion.

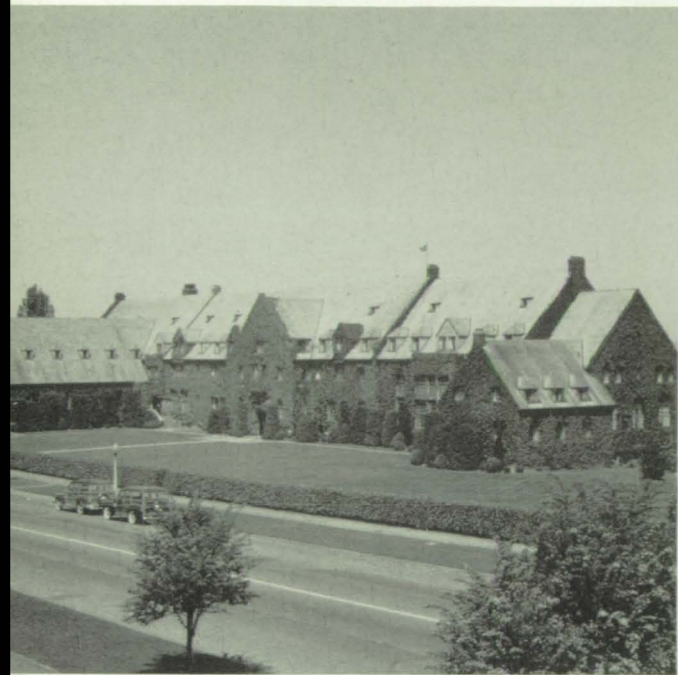

O Lord God of hosts, hear my prayer;
give ear, O God of Jacob!
Behold our shield, O God;
look upon the face of thine annointed!

For a day in thy courts is better than a thousand elsewhere.
I would rather be a doorkeeper in
the house of my God
than dwell in the tents of wickedness.
For the Lord God is a sun and shield;
he bestows favor and honor.
No good thing does the Lord withhold from those who walk uprightly.
O Lord of hosts,
blessed is the man who trusts in thee!

HERITAGE

One hundred years the Annie Wright way is the legacy. Many have come before, and many will follow. This Centennial Year is a landmark in time commemorating past triumphs and hope for a bright future.

TRADITION

Ritual spiced with love and seasoned by age produces the Annie Wright Way. Honor the established ways — they are part of the glue that holds us together.

STRENGTH

Working, learning, growing — improvement even if it hurts is part of the Annie Wright Way. The challenges we have overcome enable us to conquer more tomorrow. We can be more than we are now . . . if we try.

The Centennial Class of 1984 would like to dedicate this yearbook to Annie Wright in thanks for the heritage of which we are a part, the tradition that makes the school a special part of us, and the strength that equips us to move forward. We have learned, grown, changed — become more than we were when we came. As we leave we realize that Annie Wright did not make us, but helped us become.

Headmaster

Mr. Robert D. Klarsch

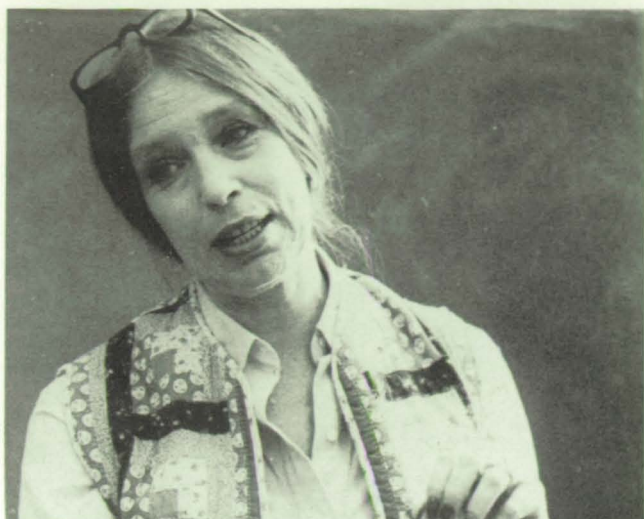

Mr. Klarsch makes his announcement about the Kemper Center.

Robert Klarsch came to Annie Wright from Wyoming Seminary in Pennsylvania. He is very excited about the school, its centennial celebration and the students and faculty. Not only does he spend his time raising money, signing documents and such; he also spends some time coaching the powder puff football team which played a game against Charles Wright this fall.

Coach Bob exhorts his team on to ...

People come into our lives,
and walk with us a mile,
and then because of circumstance
they only stay a while.
They serve a need within the days
that move so quickly by
and they are gone beyond your reach
We often wonder why.
God only knows the reason that
we meet and share a smile
Why people come into our lives
and walk with us a mile.

The annual S.A.C. (Student Athletic Council) Halloween Party was held on October 31, 1983. Among the various games and activities there was a contest with students vying for ugliest, most original, most authentic and funniest costume. The ugliest costume was worn by Janet Ingraham, a female vampire, the most original was the Seven Deadly Sins, Lee Skinner, Gwyn Montgomery, Laura Baxter, Ms. Blake, Olivia Williamson, Lynn Marshall, and Lissa Elhindi; Leslie Roach won with the most authentic costume, wearing a Marie-Antionette-type gown. Meg Frodel's and Liz Glacier's horse costume won as the funniest costume. Other costumes included: Sunkist Oranges, flappers, transients, and of course, the traditional costumes such as mummies, ghosts, and babies.

Symposium

Following the study of Plato's Symposium, Miss French's World Literature classes staged a re-enactment of a symposium, an ancient Greek dinner at which several philosophers lounged on pillows, ate, and discussed life and love. In order to come to the event, students and teachers had to wear togas, and come prepared to discuss the topic of the evening: the role of women in society. Students brought many delicious foods including baklava, Easter break, olives, feta cheese, and Greek salad. Due to a shortage of main dishes at the potluck, olive pizza was ordered from Domino's.

"Love that eggplant!" exclaimed Ms. Blake after tasting the delicacy.

Stacey and Amy: "I can't believe we're sitting in the Great Hall wearing sheets."

Otilia, Rika, and Mr. Schrag having a great time.

The student/faculty play this year was "Once Upon a Mattress." The production, which is similar to the story of the Princess and the Pea, was directed by Mr. Self. The stage director was Ms. Soucey with help from many students. Deidre was cast as the leading role of the princess, with Mr. Youngs as her leading man. Other amusing characters were Ms. Blake as the talkative queen; Mr. Timson as the wizard; Miss Ball as Lady Larkin and Mr. Earl as her fiancée.

Lower School Activities

Ice Cream Day

September 16, 1983, a grey day, seemed to brighten a bit as seven motors kicked into gear and started churning ice, cream, and other ingredients known only to fifth graders. The ice cream party was held on the cloister and eaten by lower school students and faculty members. This annual event is always staged by the fifth grade class.

Halloween

The annual Lower School costume parade is a much anticipated event by both the Lower School and Upper School students. Many a monster and other unique creatures march down the halls while older students watch with curiosity. When they arrive in the Great Hall, each grade performs a spooky song for everybody's entertainment; including parents. It is a fun and much loved celebration.

On January 19, 1984, the students celebrated Annie Wright's one-hundredth birthday. Each student of the Lower School observed this occasion by making a 19th Century hat. The students wore these hats to gain the spirit of the time period one-hundred years ago.

Lower School Student Council

Lower School Student Council was very busy in 1983-1984. We started a used record and tape sale that was conducted at the Christmas Carnival. We are also planning other exciting activities like a newspaper drive and a raffle. In addition, we got a great deal accomplished by writing an official constitution for our organization.

Cross Country is a new sport for Annie Wright this fall. Despite their late start, the cross country team ran to a winning season sending one runner, Margaret Smith, to the state meet in Spokane.

Running against other teams of girls and boys, the team made a good showing in all of their meets. Overall, the team came in a close second place in the district meet, and two girls received ribbons.

The coach, Mrs. Layton, raved about her team's performance in their initial season.

CENTENNIAL CAMPAIGN

Strong ideas and the wisdom, vision and love of the many people associated with Annie Wright are the forces which propel us into our second century. The 1984 Centennial Celebration represents an appropriate occasion for reflection on the needs of our School and the programs and facilities required for continued success, now and in the future.

Since Annie Wright School moved to its present campus in 1924, the physical facilities have remained essentially as they were sixty years ago. Recognizing the need for renovation and modernization, the Board of Trustees began a comprehensive process of long range planning more than two years ago. Its objective was the development of a master plan for the renovation of the School which would focus on sustaining excellence while developing for the future.

The following determinations were made by the Board of Trustees in 1983:

- A. The School should build a new multi-purpose athletic and performing arts facility to house a far broader and more comprehensive physical education and performing arts program.
- B. It should renovate the building and expand the science facilities.
- C. It should increase endowment for faculty compensation and initiate academic and extra-curricular programs.

These goals and priorities, projections and plans form a blueprint for the years ahead — a blueprint that provides compelling rationale for a Centennial Campaign of $4,500,000 dollars.

The following alumnae, parents and friends of Annie Wright School have offered to serve as key members of the Centennial Campaign, an effort which will help Annie Wright meet the needs outlined by the Board of Trustees.

Educating Young Women For Self-Reliance

A THEME FOR THE CENTENNIAL CAPITAL CAMPAIGN

Educating self-reliant young women is and always has been the goal of Annie Wright. Graduation has meant a beginning, not an end. Self-Reliance, an essay by Ralph Waldo Emerson, offers the sound advice: "there is a time in every man's education when he arrives at the conviction that envy is ignorance; that imitation is suicide; that he must take himself for better or for worse as is his portion; that though the wide universe is full of good, no kernel of nourishing corn can come to him but through his toil bestowed on the plot of ground which is given to him to till."

This lucid statement encourages each individual to think for himself and act upon his thoughts with vigor.

No better advice could be given to the young woman, the student of The Annie Wright School, who is about to embark upon her life on the edge of the twenty-first century. The challenges she will face will be myriad and the options from which to choose to direct her life, innumerable. The future requires that she have a firm grasp of what is valuable, a commitment to those values and the ability to exercise them in a meaningful way. She must have acquired the skills and competencies to not only understand the world around her, but to select from the numerous possibilities postured and make a commitment to the ones that she chooses. Making well-informed choices requires a self-reliant spirit.

Numerous graduates of Annie Wright have demonstrated the self-reliance and leadership that the School, throughout its 100 years, has tried to inculcate. It is remarkable to review the careers that Annies have mastered. Their influence and leadership has been felt throughout a kaleidoscope of professions. Less visible but of equal importance are the many alumnae who have dedicated their lives to the success of their families and to the improvement of their communities.

The accomplishments of the alumnae justifies the wisdom and vision of Annie Wright's founders. The achievements we observe encourage our School to maintain our strong commitment to today's students as we launch into our second century.

$2.25 Million Gift To AWS

On October 7, 1983 Headmaster Robert Klarsch announced a $2.5 million gift to The Annie Wright School. The gift was made by R. Crosby Kemper II, chairman of the Board of the Enid and Crosby Kemper Foundation of Kansas City, Mo. The gift, given to Annie Wright in honor of Mr. Kemper's mother, Enid Jackson Kemper, a 1915 Annie graduate, will be used for the construction of a new athletic and performing arts center, one of the School's primary needs as determined by the Board of Directors. The Kemper gift put the Centennial Campaign halfway to its $4.5 million goal and gave the entire campaign a tremendous impetus for success.

The proposed athletic and performing arts center will provide the athletic drama, dance, and music departments with much needed resources and facilities. It will enable the School to strengthen and enhance both our athletic and performing arts programs and will provide a place to which we can bring cultural events for the enrichment of students' lives. It will also become a vehicle by which the School can encourage and cultivate more community involvement and interaction with our friends in Tacoma.

The proposed Kemper Center for Athletics and Performing Arts will be located in the hillside just above the tennis courts. Situated so as not to disturb the delightful view of Commencement Bay and Mount Rainier, the new center will be built mostly underground, giving it the added advantage of energy efficiency. An architecturally compatible brick exterior will be used to blend the main building with this new addition, the roof of which will provide a large grassy commons and recreation space for all students. The center will be served by a common lobby, locker, and shower facilities and the gymnasium will have a full-sized basketball court.

ENID JACKSON KEMPER '15

In 1915, The Annie Wright School presented diplomas to eight young women. One of them was Enid Jackson, daughter of Dr. Robert Jackson, founder of the Roman Meal Company in Tacoma.

Enid entered Annie Wright in 1911 in the ninth grade. An active student, taking the customary classes, including Math, English, Biology, Spanish, German and Bible during one term, she was also on the AWS basketball team.

In 1921, Enid married Rufus Crosby Kemper, who became the Chairman of the Executive Committee of United Missouri Bancshares, Inc. They made their home in Kansas City, Missouri where Mrs. Kemper was very active in the cultural and social life of that growing city. She is credited with helping preserve the Kansas City Philharmonic by founding the Jewel Ball and with developing the American Royal into one of the premier horse and cattle exhibitions in the world. The list of her other accomplishments and contributions to the cultural, charitable, civic and wartime efforts in the Kansas City area are nearly countless. She was an extremely active, generous woman.

Mrs. Kemper had three children, a son and two daughters. Her son, R. Crosby Kemper II, dedicated an endowment of $2.5 million to the Annie Wright School in his mother's memory. It is fitting that an alumna so much involved in cultural development and preservation should be remembered through her alma mater's performing arts and athletic center.

There are no words that can ever say all that I feel for each of you. You were my first Sixth grade, a motly crew that was destined to be the wonderful and unique class that you are.

We grew up together - I became a more mature teacher, I hope, and you have become lovely, intelligent young ladies. I can never express how much each and every one of you means to me. Your lives have become a part of mine, and I hope as you get older you will discover a small part of myself has gone along with you. With your Blue ties next year you will have that part of my life that continues at Annie Wright.

I love you ALL very much!

May the road rise up to
meet you — the wind
be always at your back
The sunshine warm
